Dear Friends,

The Ziegenfelder factory in downtown Wheeling has suffered a terrible fire today, and the full extent of the damage is yet to be known. For generations, the Lando family have been members of our Temple family and incredibly generous supporters of many causes across this community; we are profoundly grateful that Lisa and Barry Allen, Matt Porter, and all of the employees, are safe and no one was injured.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to all those affected, including our brave police and fire fighters, and all of the other businesses, non-profits, and residents of the neighborhood who have been displaced.

That said, our faith teaches us to play an active role as partners with the Divine in repairing our world. As we give thanks for our many blessings, this is a chance for us to be a blessing unto others. Temple Shalom will be taking up a collection for the welfare of the factory workers. If you would like to join us by donating to this cause, please contact the Temple Office to let us know, or reply directly to me. Please let me know as well if you would like your gift to remain anonymous and I will do so.

To my interfaith friends, we would be honored if you might consider making this part of your collection appeal this weekend. Ziegenfelder has a long-standing reputation of hiring some of the neediest people in our community and offering countless individuals second chances to repair their lives; many of those folks will now be out of work at least temporarily.

Thank you, in advance, for your generous assistance for those in need, and I look forward to seeing you all again soon. May God bless us all in our wider Wheeling community with the blessings of safety, health, and peace.

Sincerely,
Rabbi Lief
